

From challenge to choice, confusion to clarity Action Learning for Leaders

Do you want to find solutions to current challenges in your work or business?

Do you find yourself with:

No time to reflect on the best way forward?

Professional challenges and nowhere to discuss them?

Ideas but no space to develop them?

Staying fresh and ahead of the game is vital in these changing times. Whether you're leading the organisation or responsible for implementing change, Action Learning is a powerful tried and tested approach that enables you to do just that.

Simple, practical, robust and effective are all words that describe Action Learning. Based on a coaching approach of listening, questioning, motivation and action, our peer learning groups give you a confidential space to unpick issues, address challenges and develop your thinking and skills.

"Being part of my Action Learning group is a privilege. It enables me to feel, think, listen and find answers in a brave environment."

Simon Blake, CEO, National Union of Students

Meeting regularly with a group of 5-6 fellow professionals, whether face-to-face or virtually through video conferencing, you'll be supported by one of our highly experienced facilitators.

We make sure there is a good mix of people, paying attention to who's in the group, their roles, responsibilities and organisation so there are no conflicts of interest or competitors.

“Being a CEO of a 3rd sector organisation can be a lonely place. Challenges sometimes involve colleagues and therefore a safe place to reflect and gain perspective from peers, who face similar challenges, is invaluable.”

Alastair Wilson, CEO, School for Social Entrepreneurs

“Being part of an Action Learning group helped me recognise and face up to the root cause of some of the business issues I faced. The questions helped me gain insights from different perspectives that I was unable to see for myself.”

Judith Wardell, Kingswood Age Confident
